The Astronomical Night

All of a sudden the night sky opened up to reveal its amazing beauty...

Jupiter, with its four satellites: Io, Europa, Callisto and Ganymede, surprisingly arranged with two on each side

M42 is a nebulose visible on the sword portion of Orion’s constellation

Located on the head of the swan in the Cignus constellation... Albireo is actually a double star!

Spain, December 11th, 2009